

Bangladesh Health Ministry - Malnutrition & Nutrition Protocol

- Target households with low dietary diversity or those relying heavily on single staples (white rice) for nutrition counseling.
- Provide Vitamin A supplementation and deworming tablets to children under 5 during National Immunization Days.
- Encourage consumption of locally available nutrient-dense foods (e.g., small fish (Mola), dark green leafy vegetables (Shak)).
- Refer children with Severe Acute Malnutrition (SAM) to the nearest Upazila Health Complex for inpatient or outpatient management.
- Provide iron-folic acid (IFA) supplements to adolescent girls and pregnant women to prevent anemia.
- Educate mothers on complementary feeding practices starting at 6 months, utilizing local ingredients like Khichuri with egg or dal.
